

20 April 2008

Perisurgical management of patients with neuromuscular disorders

Neurologic Clinics - Volume 22, Issue 2 (May 2004)

Surgery and Anesthesia for Children who have Cerebral Palsy

Anesthesiology Clinics of North America - Volume 23, Issue 4 December 2005

Perioperative Care of Patients with Neuromuscular Disease and Dysfunction

Anesthesiology Clinics - Volume 25, Issue 3 (September 2007) – excellent

Neuromuscular Disorders in Clinical Practice: Case Studies

Neurologic Clinics - Volume 24, Issue 2 (May 2006)

Surgery and Anesthesia for Children who have Cerebral Palsy

Anesthesiology Clinics of North America - Volume 23, Issue 4 (December 2005)

Review article - Intraoperative pediatric blood transfusion therapy: a review of common issues. Part I: hematologic and physiologic differences from adults; metabolic and infectious risks

Pediatric Anesthesia 2005 15: 716–726

Review article - Intraoperative pediatric blood transfusion therapy: a review of common issues. Part II: transfusion therapy, special considerations, and reduction of allogenic blood transfusions

Pediatric Anesthesia 2005 15: 814–830

Review article - Skull deformities. Ridgway EB

Pediatric Clinics of North America - 01-APR-2004; 51(2): 359-87

Miller Anesthesiology - cerebral physiology

Pediatric Anesthesia 2005 15: 814–830

Intraoperative pediatric blood transfusion therapy: a review of common issues. Part II: transfusion therapy, special considerations, and reduction of allogenic blood transfusions

SANDRA L. BARCELONA MD*, ALEXIS A. THOMPSON

MD†§ AND CHARLES J. COTE' MD

Hematology/Oncology clinics OF NORTH AMERICA

Transfusion Risks and Transfusion-related Pro-inflammatory Responses

George John Despotis, MD

21(2007) 147-161